

America, like Europe, will be overrun by Muslim religion

The mosque that, despite loud protests from local residents and Americans across the country, is apparently going to be built overlooking Ground Zero in New York is a symptom of an unnamed war in which we are unwittingly engaged. Though our government refuses to acknowledge it as such, it is a war just the same, a war with the ideology of Islam that threatens our freedoms and our way of life.

Several months ago, Geert Wilders, a member of the Dutch Parliament, came to America to make a sobering speech about the Islamic takeover of Europe that is taking place now.

In previous articles I've written, I have maintained that Islam is not a religion, but an ideology disguised as a religion. Wilder put it this way: "Let no one fool you about Islam being a religion... in its essence Islam is a political ideology...If you want to compare it to anything, compare it to communism or national-socialism, these are all totalitarian ideologies."

Wilder shared what conditions are like in Europe.

There are already 54 million Muslims in Europe, and a study done by San Diego University anticipates that in only 12 years, Muslims will comprise 25 percent of the population. Their numbers are expected to grow to a majority of the population by the end of the century.

Street violence in France directed against Jews and other non-Muslims has escalated to the point that people are leaving their neighborhoods and Jews are leaving the country in record numbers.

Wilder says that Israel is our first line of defense against Islam, that attacks on Israel are actually attacks on the West, and that if Israel were to fall, Muslims would perceive the West as weak, emboldening them to make further attacks on the West.

Finally, Wilder says that in the Netherlands "60 percent of the population now sees the mass immigration of Muslims as the number one policy mistake since World War II."

Assuming our present course, America will be taken over by Islam in the same way that Europe is being taken over. It's a clear pattern that can be seen in Europe - become socialists with an entitlement-minded population that is heavily taxed and because of those taxes, couples can no longer afford to have children. As the population ages, there are fewer and fewer young people to fill jobs that are being vacated by retirees and to fill the employment vacuum, Muslims move in by the millions.

To make things even easier for the Muslims, the European population took great pride in godlessness and tolerance for any religion, and so they had no moral fortitude to resist Islam. So there have been no military battles, just a gradual and quiet occupation that eventually grew large enough that their numbers instilled enough fear of resistance to Muslim demands that it has led to the acceptance of Sharia law in tandem with their own laws.

And now we, in America, have an administration and local governments (such as the one in New York City) that sees the construction of a huge mosque at Ground Zero as a symbol of their enlightened tolerance of Islam, when in fact what is really being constructed is a trophy of conquest. We only need to look at the Dome of the Rock in Jerusalem, the Hagia Sofia in Istanbul (a church that was converted to a mosque) and thousands of churches in Europe that have been desecrated by their conversion to mosques as examples.

Newt Gingrich recently wrote an article, “No Mosque at Ground Zero,” in which he does a very good job explaining his opposition to the construction of the mosque, but even he misses the mark on one key point. His contention is that we should not have entitled our response to the 9/11 attack as a “war on terror” but that we should have identified radical Islam as the enemy. Singling out only radical Islam is akin to saying that the radicals have simply “hijacked a peaceful religion.” Real Islam, not the watered-down version that is practiced by most Muslims, is anything but peaceful.

We should harbor no ill will toward peaceful Muslims, and as Christians we should always hope and pray for them. But we must always be mindful of the fact that a growing number of peaceful Muslims want Sharia law as their only law, and they are already getting that privilege in Europe.

If America does not reject Islam (which means “submission”) as a religion and define it instead as an ideology that is totally incompatible with our Constitution, we are doomed to the same fate as Europe. The mosque in New York City will only be the first of many monuments built to commemorate their conquests and their claim to America for Islam.
